Executive Summary

The aim of the study is to assess the behaviour and knowledge of the PRI members and ASHA Angadawadi workers on issues such as open defecation and hand washing practices and also their awareness about the Swach Bharat Program of the Indian Government. For the purpose of the Study, a survey was carried out in 4 Districts of UP and Bihar in which respondents from over 201 villages were interviewed.

Amongst the ASHA and Angadwadi workers, almost all have received some sort of formal education and also hygiene training and all of them are house makers. On the other side, primary occupation of most of the PRI members is farming with very less in business and self-employment. When asked about the time given by these workers and leaders in interacting and solving issues of the fellow villagers, over 57% in Bihar and 52% in UP said to devote somewhere between 1 to 2 hours every day.

In the survey conducted, lack of proper facilities was founded to be the major reason behind open defecation with more than 75% of the respondents in both states saying so. Among other major reasons were lack of government effort and awareness among the villagers. Also more than 50% of mothers interviewed throw the feces of their children in open in both states while only around 30% use household toilets for disposing it. Also on hand washing practices, most of the respondents were found aware of the critical moments of hand washing, with 86% and 92% of them doing so after defecation in Bihar and UP respectively and 56% and 43% ding so before having food in Bihar and UP respectively.

After assessing the behaviour of the respondents, the study also tries to rank individuals on the basis of their knowledge about open defecation and Swach Bharat Programme, motivation, social commitment and self-efficacy, the factors which are found most significant in analysing individual attitude towards becoming a change agent. For carrying out the Ranking, logistic regression with the above said variables was used.

Key Recommendation

Based on the findings in the study following action points will be considered:

- i. Community mobilisation should be of highest priority for implementing open defecation initiatives in these 200 villages. As it was observed that lack of access to proper facilities 75% of the respondents reported of choosing open defecation in respective States.
- ii. ASHA, Anganwadi Workers need to work on behaviour change around disposal of child's faeces as 50% of mothers interviewed out of 2000 mothers reported disposing in open faeces
- iii. It was also noted that 78% of ASHA, Anganwadi workers are aware of the Sanitation activities as well as they are trained by the govt departments. Hence their contribution to the community mobilisation would be very important.
- iv. Change agents ranking highlights that the Pradhans, Religious leaders are key change agents as per the criteria set for selecting them.
- v. Use of change agents especially in behaviour change and community initiation of construction and use of toilets would be critical and the study reveals over 57% in Bihar and 52% in UP said to devote somewhere between 1 to 2 hours every day.
- vi. The caregivers should be engaged with mothers and their relatives to emphasize on hand washing, access to safe water and sanitation facilities.
- vii. The workshop to be organized for state and district level officials, block representatives, PRI members, media and civil society representatives who are working on sanitation and health issues.

1. Background

The Project under Banega Swachh India aims at bringing behaviour change among villagers making about 200 villages open defecation free during the project period. To augment behaviour change the project will use PRI members, religious leaders, natural leaders and caregivers to influence and motivate the villagers for ODF villages. The project is planned in 100 villages of Uttar Pradesh in the districts of Varanasi (50 villages), Kannauj (25 villages) and Etawah (25 villages) and 100 villages in the Bhagalpur district of Bihar. In these 200 villages efforts are being made to create demand for household toilets, facilitate resource mobilization for construction of toilets.

The project will also consider participation from state and district level officials of the relevant different departments, block representatives, PRI members, media and civil society representatives who are working on sanitation and health issues. The project also aims at working with mothers especially those having under five children to engage them in sanitation and hygiene practices. Also hygiene practices in child care has been focused through introduction of baby book, an innovative concept to recall messages around the hygiene practices that are required during the entire neo-natal and peri-natal period of the newborn.

Role of change agents in creating an enabling environment, demonstrating evidence and community persuasion, triggering sense of identity and pride among villagers, create a positive environment for rewards and recognition and strive towards ODF village.

1.1 Programme: A brief description on intervention, geography

A brief description of intervention:

The intervention is aimed at community mobilisation across different age groups in a village and creates demand for sanitation and hygiene practices, access to sanitary facilities at household level. The intervention is taking up capacity building of change agents and use of technology to persuade behaviour change among villagers. The caregivers are expected to engage with mothers and their relatives to emphasize on hand washing, access to safe water, and access to sanitation facilities. As a part of enabling environment liaison with government departments, other stakeholders envisaged in the project. Also part of the project activities such as wall paintings, sanitation chaupals, publishing health charters planned at village level. For mass media activities radio and TV episodes targeting behaviour change, prashna preher sessions targeting myths and misconceptions and newspaper articles targeting experience sharing has been planned.

Geography:

According to the latest Guidelines on ODF in villages by Govt. of India, it is essential that the activities being carried out under Swachh Bharat Abhiyan are targeting villages which can achieve ODF through a rigorous behaviour change and shaping of enabling environment. Pehel initiative in 200 villages is aimed at creating behaviour change agents who will create a sustainable enabling environment so that the villagers change their behaviour towards hygiene practices including open defecation. Considering the geographical variation in the States of Bihar and UP, the selection criteria has been formulated for identifying villages which would be part of the Pehel initiative. The core principle of the criteria is to initiate activities in villages where the last mile approach is achievable and ensures ODF in a limited period of time. Later on the learnings of these villages would fast track the achievement in other category of villages.

State	Average member per household	Household size per village	Current availability of HH toilets	Duplication of reso with other partners
Bihar	4-5 members	More than 100	More than 15%	No
Uttar Pradesh	4-5 members	More than 150	More than 15%	No

The list of villages selected based on the above norms is annexed at the end of the report.

1.2 Objectives of the study

The following are the objectives of the study:

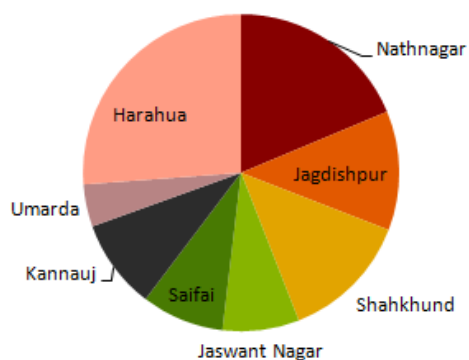

1. To carry out rapid behaviour assessment of sampled PRI members, Natural and Faith based leaders on leadership, motivation and drive to lead the change in sanitation programs.
2. To rank these respondents and use these ranking to build capacities.
3. To carry out dip stick KABP among sampled ASHA and Anganwadi workers in 200 villages.

2. Methodology

2.1 Sample size calculation

Purposive samples were taken from the existing ASHA and Anganwadi Workers to select respondents for interview. Similarly the PRI members, natural leaders were selected from the pool of them available in the village during the survey through purposive sampling technique.

Distribution of RBAT respondents (n=1850)

Distribution of DKAT respondents (n=441)

Summary of category of participants attached as annexure at the end of the report.

3. Survey Design

Pehel project envisages to select change agents based on the past involvement in community development activities. For this Dure Technologies has developed a ranking criteria using regression analysis of their traits and skills. This analysis is being done by using following:

- Free listing of natural, faith based and PRI members is done in a village by surveyor and Pehel staffs jointly. Snow balling and FGD are done to identify a sample of above for interview by the surveyor. Photographs and signature of the respondents have been taken as part of documentation.
- The interview contains questions which simulate an environment of their future or past involvement in Sanitation activities with specific reference to ODF.

The following are the ranking criteria used for ranking:

Traits and Skills explored
Knowledge and Attitude towards community issues related to sanitation practices
Leadership and Problem solving skills
Self efficacy (one's capabilities to mobilize the Motivation and courses of action needed to exercise general control over behaviour of others)
Openness to Experience (Demonstrate positive correlations with attitudes to change and overall team performance)
Self Evaluation (Demonstrate positive correlations with attitudes to change and overall team performance in a change management situation)
Locus of control (Individual's perception of his or her ability to exercise control over the environment)
Personal Resilience (Ability to bounce back from negative emotional experiences and by flexible adaptation to the changing demands of stressful experiences)

A regression analysis was done and accordingly ranking was provided to each of the respondent.

3.1 Data Collection and Tools

3.1.1 Quantitative Tools

Key Informant Interview tool was used for both change agents and caregivers in this study. In addition, focus group discussion was held in the villages to select the respondents especially the change agents such as renowned individuals, natural leaders for the interview.

3.1.2 Training of teams

28th Oct 2015 at Kanpur, 30th Oct 2015 at Varanasi, 9th and 10th Nov. 2015 at Patna training was done for 30 investigators along with field visit to practice the tools.

3.1.3 Data quality Protocol

Following processes were followed to ensure data quality:

1. During data collection team members from Jagran/Pehel team were part of the process of selection of respondents, facilitating interviews and FGDs.
2. Photographs (with consent wherever possible) and signature of the respondents were collected to ensure that the data collected in the mobile application are supported with additional credentials.
3. Field visits and verification calls were made to ensure that the information provided are triangulated.

4. Socio Demographic Profile

The leaders in the village and ASHA and Anganwadi workers were interviewed to understand their understanding on the issue of open defecation and other hygiene issues in the village. At the same time the survey gauges the willingness of the social, faith and political leaders to undertake the initiative to bring about change.

Table 4.2: State district and village wise distribution of respondent

All the ASHA and Anganwadi workers interviewed are primarily homemakers. They all (except for 3 out of 441) have received some form of formal education and have also received hygiene training. Most of the women (40%) in UP have received this training from the government, rest have learned it primarily from Radio, TV and newspaper. Only 3% have received it from a non-governmental organisation. In Bihar, on the other hand, there is not an identifiable source from where the training is primarily provided. Only 28% women reported to have received training from the Government, 17% from Radio and TV respectively, 15% read in newspaper and 10% reported receiving it from an NGO (table 4.3)

4.1. Knowledge about Swachh Bharat programs, knowledge around triggers of behaviour among village population among ASHA and Anganwadi

Bringing behaviour change towards open defecation is one of biggest challenge. It calls for change in the practice which is as old as time. 25% in Bihar and 27% in UP reported individual choice of the people to defecate in open. Lack of sanitation facilities is the primary reason for open defecation according to ASHA and Anganwadi worker in Bihar and Uttar Pradesh, 83% and 79% respectively. Another reason is lack of incentives provided by the government to use toilets (Bihar 67%, UP 49%) 34% in Bihar also reported lack of space in the household to build the toilets.

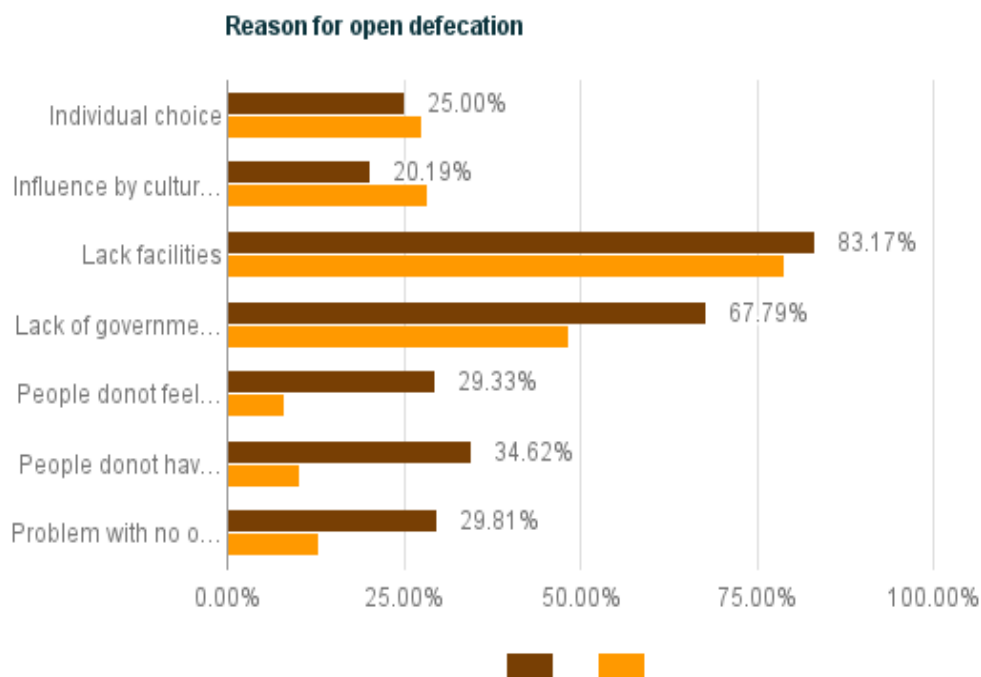

Exhibit 4.2: Reason for open defecation according to ASHA and Anganwadi workers

4.2. Knowledge about hand washing practices

ASHA and Anganwadi were probed on the knowledge of hand washing. Most of them were aware of practice of hand washing. Respondents were probed for both knowledge and practice. 69% of respondents in Bihar and 72% in Uttar Pradesh are aware of critical instances before which a person should wash hands.

	Bihar	UP
Knowledge - Critical moments before which hands should be washed	69%	72%
Knowledge - Critical moments after which hands should be washed	56%	42%
Practice - handwashing at critical moments	55%	44%

Before Eating
Before feeding anyone
Before handling mother/child

Table: Knowledge and practice of handwashing among ASHA and Anganwadi

Exhibit...: Critical moments before which hands should be washed

Awareness about critical moments after hand washing is lower in comparison. 56% in Bihar and 42% in UP are aware of critical moments after which hands should be washed.

As can be seen from the table, most of the respondents are aware of the hand washing practice after urination and defecation. The matter of concern is ASHA and anganwadi do not realise the importance of washing hands after handling mother or kids. Almost 5 out of 10 workers do not have knowledge of cleaning hands after washing child's urine or stool.

	Bihar	UP
After defecation	86%	92%
After urinating	99%	79%
After eating	62%	55%
After sweeping/mopping/dusting	56%	52%
After touching pets or handling animals and their waste	51%	46%
After blowing nose or coughing	53%	46%
After cleaning utensils	40%	22%
After cleaning a child's urine/stool	54%	38%
After working in the field	27%	16%
After handling the mother or kids	31%	12%

Table 4.5: Activities after which hands should be washed - ASHA and anganwadi workers

4.3. Handwashing practice

When it comes to practice of handwashing, lower number of people reported washing hands after the critical moments. After using the toilet almost everyone reported washing hands. Only 50% reported washing hands before eating or touching. When it comes to tasks like after touching animals, dusting or mopping around 40% reported washing hands in Bihar and only 25% reported in Uttar Pradesh.

	Bihar	UP
Before cooking	56%	73%
After using the toilet	99%	92%
After handling food	52%	46%
Before eating or touching food	56%	43%

	Bihar	UP

Before feeding an infant	58%	38%
After cleaning a child's feces	57%	57%
After dusting/ sweeping/ mopping	39%	25%
After touching pets or handling animals and their waste	36%	27%
After blowing nose or coughing	41%	32%
After cleaning utensils	17%	17%

Table 4.7: Handwashing practice

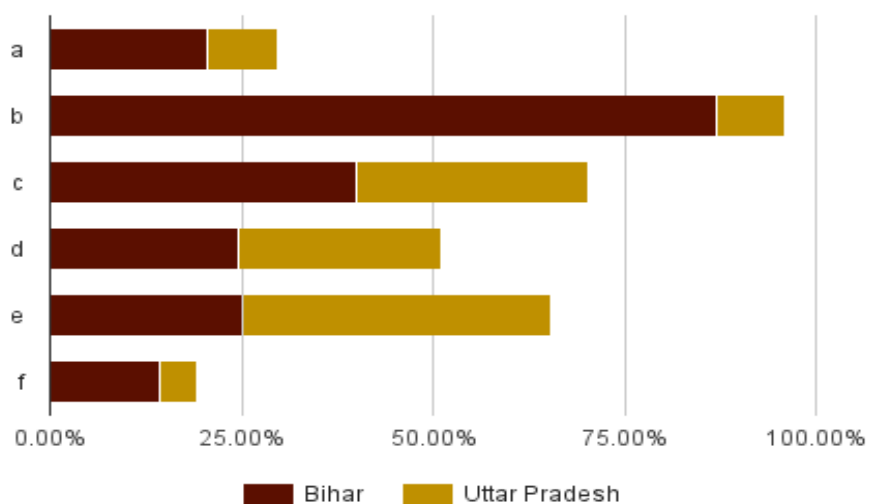

As per the survey conducted of ASHA Anganwadi workers, there is very low correlation of about 0.073 between an individual's educational qualification and his hand washing practices, which means knowledge and practice of washing hand come more out of general awareness rather than formal education, though it still has its impact .

4.4 Attitude towards supporting others, facilitating others to access govt schemes, time spent etc

87% of ASHA and Anganwadi workers in Bihar reported they have mobilized individuals or private resources for the cause, 40% have had meetings with the families in the village. In uttar pradesh on the other hand, the efforts made by the workers are comparatively lower yet not discouraging. 40% of the women have raised the issues of open defecation in the public meetings and 30% have mobilized individuals and private resources for the cause.

Role played till now on open defecation issue

A. Mobilised govt. resources, b. Mobilised individual / private resources, c. Mobilised individuals to influence others, d. Held meeting with families, e. Raised issue in public meetings, f. Had tried my best but no results

Exhibit: Role played till now by ASHA and Anganwadi workers to reduce open defecation

4.5 Disposing of feces

According to ASHA and Anganwadi workers, 55% of mothers throw the children's feces in the open. Further 40% of mothers in Bihar are reported to dispose it off in the village drain.

	Bihar	UP
Throw in the open	58%	52%
Dispose in village drain	40%	13%
Throw along with household garbage	36%	26%
Dispose in household toilets	29%	36%
Wash in the common places	34%	13%
Don't know	2%	1%

4.6. Attitude towards leadership quality for taking up initiatives

37% of the women in Bihar are willing to play some role to meet the challenge of open defecation and hygiene. 46% in Bihar and 40% in UP are willing to raise this issue in public meetings.

	Bihar	UP
Work with individual families to motivate	19%	26%
Work with panchayat to fund toilets	44%	20%
Discuss with male members of the village	42%	30%
Hold meeting with families	40%	47%
Raise issue in public meetings	46%	39%
Govt. officers should do more in this area	29%	6%

Can you spend time for the cause

Exhibit : ASHA and Anganwadi worker's willingness to spend time for the cause

Go to Table of Contents

Lot of government schemes are running on the shoulders of ASHA and Anganwadi. Along with that all the workers are homemakers and have responsibility to take care of their children and families. 43% of the workers cannot spend any time but can as they reach out to all the households in the village, they can influence by mobilizing others. 23% are willing to spend 1-2 hours in a weeks and only 7% can space one day of the week.

TAKE AWAY:

With regard to experience or knowledge of Swachh Bharat program, both change agents and caregivers have experience of facilitating access to the scheme benefits but when it comes to direct involvement, most of the respondents have expressed lack of time is a constraint followed by lack of training on specifics of the program.

5. Characteristics and Skills as change agent

This section discusses the characteristics of the leaders in the village. They were interviewed to understand the actions taken by them so far to reduce open defecation. At the same time the respondents were probed if they would like to be the agent of change.

	ASHA And Anganwadi	Leaders
Individual's perception of his or her ability to exercise control over the environment (q211)	32%	91%
Individual's understanding about one's worthiness, effectiveness and capability as a person (q212)		90%
Individual's personal resilience and dispositional resistance to change (q217)		xx
Individual's attitude towards flexibility, personal drive, desire to lead, self confidence (q216)		67%
Individual's skills to motivate others for change or appreciating some other person's skills to lead the change (q207)		99%

TAKE AWAY

- The analysis clearly highlights that although individual perception about his or her ability to exercise control over the environment is very high but the attitude to lead including self confidence remains low.
- Hence, it is critical that activities need to be designed to bring the attitudinal change among these change agents to enable them to lead the process including confidence building by bringing an enabling environment and motivational inputs.

On the basis of questions asked to the respondents in the issue of open defecation, their views and interest and also their willingness to be the change agent, ranking of all the leaders interviewed is conducted. It is done on the basis of significant variables affecting the respondent decision of taking change initiatives. The model used for regression is as follow:

$$\text{Openness} = \beta_0 + \beta_1 \text{ Knowledge} + \beta_2 \text{ Ability} + \beta_3 \text{ Self Efficacy} + \beta_4 \text{ Motivation} + \beta_5 \text{ Locus of Control} + \beta_6 \text{ Social Commitment} + \beta_7 \text{ Activeness in the past} + \beta_8 \text{ Experience} + \varepsilon$$

Where,  $\varepsilon$  is the error term and openness is defined as respondent's willingness to take leadership initiative or bring change in future, with yes given a value 1 and no 0.

Dependent variable being a binary response, the technique used for regression is logistic regression, where interpretation of beta is done in term of change in “log of odds” of dependent variable for unit change in the independent variable. Also the technique of hierarchical regression is used in determining significant variables step-wise.

Out of the variables in the equation only Motivation, Knowledge, Locus of control, Self-Efficacy and Activeness in the past are found to be significant (at 10% level of significance) in determining respondent's openness towards the initiative.

In the above output table, step 5e represents final model.

In the above table (step 5e), the variable with highest Exp(B) value represents the variable with the highest effect on the odds ratio i.e., the probability of choosing yes over no in taking initiatives. Thus, Motivation is given preference in ranking change leaders followed by knowledge, Locus of Control, Self-efficacy and at last activeness.

The rankings of all the leaders interviewed are available at the end of the report as annexure.
